The Community-Based Economy: A Circle of Support

Homegrown products are not merely commodities; they are threads that weave together the fabric of our community-based economy. By supporting local artisans and purveyors, we invest in the well-being of our neighbors and contribute to a more resilient and vibrant local economy. When we choose homegrown products, we are choosing to support the dreams of our friends and family, the preservation of our cultural heritage, and the creation of a more sustainable and equitable future.

Sustainable Living: A Path to Harmony with the Earth

Homegrown products are often synonymous with sustainable living. By embracing locally sourced and handmade goods, we reduce our environmental footprint and promote a more eco-conscious lifestyle. These products are often made with natural and sustainable materials, ensuring that our consumption choices align with our values of environmental stewardship. By choosing homegrown, we are playing a part in creating a more sustainable and harmonious relationship with our planet.

EMP / A SMALLER CARBON FOOTPRINT

ENERGY CONSERVATION	REDUCED WASTE	GREEN PACKAGING
RECOVER EXCESS HEAT FROM MANUFACTURING EQUIPMENT &amp; PROCESSES	RECYCLE ALL METAL FILINGS AND TAILINGS FROM MANUFACTURING	PAPER PACKAGING THAT IS 100% RENEWABLE, RECYCLABLE &amp; REUSABLE

When EMP moved into its current facility, special consideration was made in the planning and implementation so that energy efficient handling systems were implemented to minimize and reduce energy use.	To reduce our impact on the environment, EMP works to recycle all metal scrap filings and trimmings from our manufacturing process. Over the past four years the metal scrap generated as a percentage of sales revenue was reduced by over 30%.	EMP is always looking to improve our packaging while reducing the impact to our environment. To meet this goal, EMP initiated a conversion from white boxes to brown, unbleached boxes made from recycled materials and used more friendly packaging.
